TEACHER ADVISOR RESPONSIBILITY FORM

The Junior State of America sincerely thanks you for accompanying your chapter to the upcoming convention. We appreciate your dedication to furthering the goals of JSA and to increasing the political awareness of today's youth. Without your help, students would not be able to attend conventions like these and would miss an opportunity to debate and discuss controversial issues, learn more about the democratic process, and develop leadership skills.

Outlined below are mandatory responsibilities of Teacher Advisors (TAs) and/or school approved Adult Chaperones at a JSA convention. Please review them and send in this form, signed, with your chapter's registration materials. Ultimately, you are responsible for the students in your chapter so please check with your administration regarding rules pertaining to school trips. Here is also a copy of the JSA participant rules that all are expected to follow.

1. BE PRESENT. Teacher Advisors must be present onsite and readily available throughout the entirety of the convention to accompany students and keep them on track and motivated. Please make sure to bring contact information for all students and establish a way students can get in touch with you during the convention by cell phone and at specified locations and times. You may not leave any students at the convention for any reason. You must stay with your chapter until every student has left the convention space.
2. CHECK-IN. Teacher Advisors must be present with your student chapter leader in order to complete registration. TAs must remain on the convention property at all times during JSA scheduled activities. They also need to check in with their Chapter members at designated times throughout the convention.
3. TEACHER ADVISOR MEETING. ALL Teacher Advisors MUST attend the mandatory Teacher Advisor meeting with the JSA staff to review convention logistics, convention and hotel rules, and to receive important announcements for the event.
4. CHAPTER CAUCUS. Teacher Advisors must attend chapter caucus with their chapters. The timing of Chapter Caucus differs by JSA region. Please check your conference agenda for the specific time at your convention.
5. SUPERVISION. Teacher Advisors and/or school approved Adult Chaperones are responsible for their delegates (attendees) and any adults that come as part of the delegation. This includes knowing where their delegates are, and ensuring they are following conventions rules. TAs and Adult Chaperones are wholly responsible for supervising their delegates (attendees) outside of scheduled JSA convention activities, including during meal breaks, and overnight. TAs must sign up for shifts to monitor convention spaces and breakout rooms during the convention. Teacher Advisors will receive instructions by email prior to the day of the convention on how to sign up for supervision shifts.
  - a. If you witness students involved in inappropriate conduct, do not hesitate to intervene. If you are uncomfortable dealing with students from other high schools, notify the TA from that school or a member of the JSA staff.
6. MEDICAL EMERGENCIES/DISCIPLINARY ISSUES. The JSA staff at the convention will contact you if a member of your chapter has a serious medical issue or violates convention rules. In the event of a medical emergency or a serious rule infraction, JSA staff will work with you to arrange medical attention for your student, notify parents/guardians and school officials if necessary, and send students home. PLEASE REVIEW ALL THE CONVENTION RULES AND DISCUSS THEM WITH YOUR STUDENTS BEFORE THE CONVENTION.
7. MORAL AND EDUCATIONAL SUPPORT. We believe that Teacher Advisors can provide valuable moral support to students. If one of your students is a main participant of a debate, or plans to make a subsequent speech, we highly recommend that you attend the debate. Since many students use the time just prior to their debate to refine their argument, you can help by providing advice and answering questions before a debate. We also suggest that after the conference is over, you discuss your student's performance with them to help them understand what they did well, and how they might improve their performance in the future.
8. CONDUCT. Adult participants in all JSA programming are expected to model appropriate behavior and conform to all rules for JSA participants.

I have reviewed the above responsibilities and general participation rules, and agree to faithfully execute the duties required of me as a Teacher Advisor (or other adult chaperone).

Signature  Date 4/11/24 School Dublin High
